Metalhead

Metalhead chronicles the epic journey of five fish bums and their friends as they travel to remote Northwestern wilderness in search of legendary steelhead; the hottest freshwater fish you can catch on a fly rod and also a fish whose survival hangs in the balance.

Filmed as an adventure documentary, the fish bums face the challenges of mother-nature, border police and Giardia. This untamed and majestic land offers the best opportunity for an angler to hook into a wild trophy steelhead. If you're lucky enough to land on of these incredible fish, you'll be forever changed. Follow the dedication, obsession and insanity that drives steelheaders to pursue a fish that is not in the river to feed, a fish known as Metalhead.
